

WAKE UP, CHURCH!

Wake up, Church!

If a man is without work for awhile, one thing he does not have is credit with the telephone company so why do you keep on asking him for his phone number?

Wake up, Church!

If a man needs work in order to feed his family, to keep a roof over their heads, to keep them reasonably warm, why is it so strange that he will take a job, any lawful job, even at a minimum wage, even if he is an executive type?

Wake up, Church!

If a man can be employed by anyone, why have we ceased to “give” jobs to our brothers? “Giving” implies a gift; have we ceased to give?

Wake up, Church!

If a man has no money, and thus no transportation, how can he get to meetings to grow spiritually? Are our cars overcrowded, or just our parking lots?

Wake up, Church!

How many times have you gone to the store with limited funds only to discover you dare not use them all, for how are you going to carry 3 sacks of 15-20 pounds each for 1 ½ miles?

Wake up, Church!

TV commercials show you how to get your clothes whiter and brighter. Did you ever try it with a bar of bath soap?

Wake up, Church!
